Varinder Mohan Vs. M/s. Manohar Infrastructure Ltd.

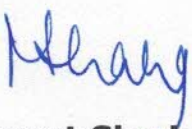

Present: 1. None for the Complainant.
2. Sh. Dinesh Madra, Counsel for the respondent.

Case taken-up through Video Conference.

Counsel for the respondent submitted that whatever amount was due towards the respondent has duly been paid to the complainant. Now nothing was due and due compliance with the terms of the compromise deed had been made, he contended..

Today, again counsel for the complainant sought another adjournment in the group. Perusal of the file reveals that on the earlier date, an adjournment had already been afforded to the counsel for the complainant on the clear understanding that no further adjournment shall be granted in this case. No special ground have been made by the counsel for the complainant for again adjourning the matter today. Accordingly, the present complaint is dismissed, both for non-prosecution and also on account of the terms of the compromise terms ^{having been} fulfilled. File be consigned to record room. Both the parties be informed accordingly.
